

Help Florence Crittenton Keep Teen Moms in School and on Track with their Education

At Florence Crittenton dropping out of high school is not an option. We need to show our young moms that an education is valued. A teen mom who drops out of school can expect to earn $16,000 annually. If she receives her diploma she can expect to earn $21,000. 68% of female high school graduates will never depend upon public assistance. It's devastatingly important that girls finish high school.

Below are supplies we need for 12 girls to begin the school year right! Thank you!
